UCLA Land Use Law and Planning Conference

Dear Members of the Commission:

REQUEST

It is requested the Executive Officer be authorized to represent the Commission at the 29th Annual UCLA Land Use Law & Planning Conference.

DISCUSSION

We have found that attending the annual UCLA Land Use Law & Planning Conference is an excellent way to keep abreast of events and trends regarding land use legislation, related case law and emerging issues that frame land use and development in California.

We have attended in past years as Executive Officer of the LAFCOs where I worked and found this to be an excellent way stay current and thereby be better able to serve the interests of the Commission, local agencies and residents of the County.

This one-day course will be held on Friday, January 30, 2015 at a cost of $455. There are sufficient funds in the Commission budget.

Please contact the LAFCO office if you have any questions.

Sincerely,

BOB BRAITMAN
Executive Officer

UCLA Extension's annual Land Use Law and Planning Conference is the leading source of information on California land use legislation, case law, and the emerging issues that frame land use and development practices in the nation's most populous state. This conference offers a unique cross-disciplinary approach that explores the full range of perspectives drawn from the land use planning, legal, development, and environmental communities and demonstrates how these factors influence the day-to-day work of attorneys, planners, public officials, consultants, developers, real estate professionals, and others involved in land use and environmental issues in California. For more information call (310) 825-7093 or visit uclaextension.edu/landuse.
